

Hej team 🙌

Thanks for your time. Excited to be here.

My name is Tomasz. I'm a generalist who remembers the world without the Internet. I've been building on the Web since I was a 13-year old introvert. Looking back, I realise it has always been my way for expressing ideas and communicating with the world.

I'm a self-sufficient and resourceful person, who believes in consistent and intentional progress. I've got clear life objectives, which serve as the basis for my routine, schedule, and plans. I'm resilient and determined, which helps to keep up the momentum.

I see life as a series of projects. From cooking your favourite meal to building a family. I recognise that time is a finite resource. I hammer the scope down, stick to the priorities, and remove any distractions that get in the way of achieving my goals.

Having an introverted nature helps me to notice small deeds of ordinary folk that keep the darkness at bay. (Gandalf, anyone?) When businesses chase the next big idea, I prefer to look at the struggles of average men.

I believe I can help them through design. But in an age of mediocrity, we get poorly built products, leaving frustrated users without any alternatives. I want my work to go against that notion. As a designer, I choose simplicity and quality.

But you wouldn't associate any of those with the Internet. The rise of AI accelerates the decline. So, it's important to me that we cultivate webmanship and produce apps for humans by humans - like Basecamp or Hey!

As part of the efforts, I've founded a web design agency in 2015. Despite many successes, I struggle to change the Web when clients call the shots. The notion of being accountable to myself and customers - like in 37signals - fills me up with hope.

Many paths from my life converge here. I believe I can help you to make Basecamp even better, and by extension, empower ordinary folk to do extraordinary things. Tame their chaos. Spend time efficiently. Turn ideas into reality.

Above all, I'm a candidate who brings common sense, tons of raw materials for shaping up ideas, and a doer attitude. I appreciate the art of writing as much as design. My core values align with yours. Cliche, but 37signals already feels like home.

I hope you grant me an opportunity to be a part of your team.

Tomasz